Rob Selby : Garage Life: A collection of projects created in a garage before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Garage Life: A collection of projects created in a garage:

Follow the journey from conception to completion for an eclectic mixture of projects from a Wooden Car to a Penny Farthing with some significant variety in between. Other projects include a recumbent three wheeler, a micro-processor controlled cat feeder and a turned triangular wooden pen. At face value each project could be considered as just making something but each project sets out to solve a problem or answer a question and often involves some engineering along the way.
