About the Author Toby Lischko has always been interested in crafting. She comes from a long line of sewers, but no one in her family ever quilted. In 1985, thinking it would be fun for her and her mom, she signed up for her first quilting class. Needless to say, quilting became a passion and over 20 years later, Toby is still completely in love with the craft. As she's perfected her craft over the years, she branched out into competition quilting and teaching. Now, she's a highly respected designer.
