Jessica Strand, Tammy Massman-Johnson : Kids in the Holiday Kitchen: Making, Baking, Giving before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Kids in the Holiday Kitchen: Making, Baking, Giving:

I think the book is well written, the recipes are quite good (and basic enough for kids), and what pictures are included make the food look appealing - especially to kiddos. But I really wish there was a photo for each recipe. Younger children especially don't (or can't) read recipes to see if it sounds appealing to them. However, seeing a picture of the finished product definitely increases their desire to make it. My son was especially interested in the Celebration Sticks (pretzel rods dipped in chocolate rolled in sprinkles), Incredible Edible Ornaments (cupcakes decorated with mini peanut butter cups pretzels to look like ornament tops), and Frosty Friends (marshmallows decorated with candies to look like snowmen). There are also savory things like Macaroni Cheese, Turkey Roll-Ups, and Spaghetti. I definitely wish there were pictures of those things to entice my picky eater ... Also included are some craft projects for children of various ages. Handmade soaps, candles, edible garland, ornaments stockings. Overall, I'm happy with this purchase, with the exception of the lack of accompanying pictures I already mentioned ... 5 of 5 people found the following review helpful. tasty, easy recipes but not enough picturesBy CaliocEverything I've tried from this book has been a hit and my kids love to make the treats. However, only about 1/2 of the recipes have pictures to go with them. In my opinion this is a big flaw for a kids holiday book. 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Something newBy Lisa GladmanSomething new to try with the kids at Christmas time vs. the regular popsicle stick ornaments, etc. Fun and my kids have a blast baking.

Kick off the holidays in the kitchen this year! Here are kid-friendly projects including easy entres, sweet and savory no-shes, and fantastic crafts to display, wear, or give. Kids will love making and then eating cupcakes that look like Christmas ornaments and Snowballs in the Forest, creative little pizzas perfect for little hands. That special someone will be delighted to receive Santas Suds decorated soap or a candy-cane decorated gift tin. With these unique craft and snack ideas, the holidays will certainly be merry and bright.
